

Mr. Jan Scholten, head of the city nursery in The Hague on 'Van den Berk on Trees.'

"The tree bible"

"The book is here on the desk, always within reach. We have bought a whole series of these bibles and distributed them to land managers and designers. I use it mainly as a reference work – just quickly look up what the architects have invented now. It contains the standard information on each tree, and also how it behaves under particular conditions. We have quite a few restrictions here in The Hague, such as salty onshore winds. The selection of trees was based on this book."
