

News from Van den Berk Nurseries

Tree finder at the modernised vdberk.com website

Van den Berk Nurseries is making it easier for you to select a type of tree that is suitable for your project. At the modernised www.vdberk.com website you can enter search criteria such as crown shape, leaf colour and winter hardiness. The tree finder immediately presents the suitable trees that meet your criteria. Besides the tree finder the new website also has a new layout and image that enables you to find information on the three nurseries (more than 400 hectares!), the projects completed and in progress and the latest news on Van den Berk Nurseries far more quickly.

Van den Berk remains ISO certified

Van den Berk Nurseries operates in accordance with stringent quality standards. The company has been certified in accordance with the ISO 9001:2000 standard, the international standard for quality management systems, since 1997. In concrete terms this means that you can be certain that Van den Berk Nurseries only purchases from approved suppliers. In addition, all operations relating to the product are carried out according to fixed guidelines and are exhaustively documented. Every tree is inspected at least five times between tendering and delivery.

The presentation of the ISO certificate takes place after multiple internal and external checks conducted by an independent certification agency. Van den Berk Nurseries was again awarded the ISO certificate after inspection at the end of 2006. This certificate guarantees another three years of high quality service and trees.

